A GIANT BUREAU ABOVE—AN ECLAIR BOAT.

The British sent their fastest man-of-war of French make, but it was not until 1891 that the first of the Eclair boats was built. These boats, which have a speed of 100, are built with four masts, each of the same height, carrying four sails, placed in line, two of which are set afloat, the other two being held in reserve. Before the outbreak of hostilities they were used for training purposes, and found to perform wonderfully in the water, which they could come out of at any time. Last year the machine did splendid work in training the new recruits.
